When Philly PD Fails You

They didn't come. Here's who will.

The suffering was real. The outcome is useful. Given away free.

Standing up for your rights is not snitching. It is citizenship. You are a United States citizen. Human decency is owed to you by law.

1. Skip Your District — Call State Police

Pennsylvania State Police, Troop K, Philadelphia barracks. 2201 Belmont Avenue. Phone: 215-452-5216. They cover Philadelphia County independently of PPD. Do not call your district back.

2. File Where It Lands — CPOC

Citizens Police Oversight Commission (civilian oversight, not Internal Affairs). Phone: 215-685-0891. Email: CPOC@phila.gov. Address: 2401 Walnut Street, Suite 602. They review complaints and can monitor investigations.

3. Private Criminal Complaint (No Police Report Needed)

Under Pennsylvania Rule of Criminal Procedure 506, any civilian can submit a criminal case directly. DA's Private Criminal Complaint Unit: 1425 Arch Street, 4th Floor. Phone: 215-686-9848. Harassment, threats, and neighbor disputes qualify.

4. What the Law Protects

Harassment — Title 18 § 2709. Course of conduct with no legitimate purpose. Third-degree misdemeanor.

Cyber harassment of a child — Title 18 § 2709(a.1).

Noise ordinance — Quiet hours 9 PM–8 AM. Sound audible past 100 feet. First fine $100–$300. File via 311.

Parental rights — Title 18 § 509 & Title 23 § 6304. A parent may use reasonable force to safeguard or promote a child's welfare. Reasonable force for supervision and safety is excluded from the definition of child abuse. You are not a criminal for holding a boundary.

5. Cease and Desist — Civilian Version

Write it yourself. Name the specific conduct. Demand it stop immediately. State that continued conduct becomes evidence of intent. Send certified mail with return receipt. The green card is legal proof of notice. Keep copies of everything.

6. Free Legal Backup

Community Legal Services: 215-981-3700. Walk-ins Tuesdays & Thursdays 9–12 at 1424 Chestnut. Family/DHS hotline: 215-981-3765. Philly Tenant Hotline: 267-443-2500. You can file a Protection from Abuse (PFA) order yourself.

Documentation That Wins

One chronology: date, time, location, witnesses, exact conduct, every call and who you spoke to. Original video files backed up — never screenshots alone.

Think Tank Digital · Think Tank Solutions AI · Free Guide · whenphillypdfails@outlook.com

This is not anti-police. It is the back door when the front door will not open.